

WE NEED YOUR HELP IN FREEING AMERICAN CHILDREN FROM SEX SLAVERY!

Every day children are bought and sold into sex slavery here in the United States of America.

Some common but damaging MISCONCEPTIONS:

- “This is a third-world problem”
- “These kids are from poor, dysfunctional families”
- “They must be troubled teens”
- “They are prostitutes by choice”

The victims of child-sex-trafficking are from every state and every walk of life. The fact is that over the last 25 years, this has become the third fastest growing crime in the United States. The FBI identified and recovered 850 children from sex-trafficking in 2009. There are more than 30,000 children forced into sexual slavery yet to be rescued. The average age of these children is 13 years old. Victims are recovered daily by law-enforcement, FBI, and The Department of Homeland Security.

Currently in the US, there are facilities that provide only short-term care and to less than 1% of the victims. When victims do not have a safe place to go after being rescued, they stand in great danger of falling victim again to this heinous crime and the prosecution rate of the slaveholders is less than 5%. If we continue to lack long-term care for the victims and effective consequences for the traffickers and solicitors, we will lose the fight against child-sex-trafficking.

FACESS, (Freeing American Children from Exploitation and Sexual Slavery) is a non-profit organization currently providing long-term care for up to 200 American children rescued from sex-trafficking.
